Hermione Williams Jackson was a beloved member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Incorporated®, who wrote the Iota Omega chapter song. She was born in the small Mississippi Delta town of Belzoni to the late Sherman and Lillian Rogers. She graduated from Rust College in Holly Springs, Mississippi in 1936 with a Bachelor of Arts in Music and English. She later attained a Bachelors (1947) and Masters (1950) in Classical Piano from Northwestern University. She joined the faculty of Jackson State University where she taught piano, music theory, and directed choral programs. After several years, she moved to Norfolk, marrying the late George R. Jackson. She resided in Norfolk for 57 years, where she taught at Booker T. Washington High School and Maury High School as piano instructor, choral director, and handbell choir conductor. She always had an exquisite touch on the piano, playing music from multiple genres which kept her performances in the Tidewater area in demand. She was a faithful member of Grace Episcopal Church where she served on many Church Guilds and as organist and choir director for some years. Mrs. Jackson lived until the age of 101.
